

Whole Breit current hemisphere, every quantity measured in the lab. The inclusive curve climbs steeply, and slicing in colour-frame energy does not flatten it (median spread 90%). The small grey numbers give the median  $Q$  in each bin of one slice: at fixed  $E_{\text{cm}}$  the lab momentum of the current system is set by  $Q$ , so this axis is a  $Q$  scan in disguise.