

With  $Q = 5\text{--}7.5$  GeV and the colour-frame energy both held fixed, how much dependence on lab transverse momentum survives. Zero is a flat curve. Widening the cone barely helps until it is wide enough to hold the whole current system, which in the lab means no cone at all.